PORT ARTHUR NOW NEARLY CUT OFF

Japanese Are Believed to Have Taken the Peninsula Behind Siege Guns and Are Pushing On to Dalny.

St. Petersburg, May 6.—10:05 p. m.—A dispatch received tonight says that Port Arthur is cut off from all communication by land, the Japanese having debarked in its rear, occupied the railroad and cut the telegraph. It is estimated that the Japanese now on the Liao-tung peninsula number 30,000.

Vice Admiral Skrydloff, who is en route to Port Arthur to take command of the naval forces in the far east will be unable to reach his destination.

Kuropatkin's Official Report.

The ministry of war has received the following telegram from Major General Sakharoff, chief of the military staff.

"According to the information I have received from the reports, and afterguard about 40 appeared opposite Pitsevo on the evening of May 4.

"On the morning of May 5 the Japanese began to land at Pitsevo and on the coast near Cape Terminal under cover of artillery fire. At this moment about 60 transports were observed leaving down the whole front and our posts retired from the shore.

Abandoned the Town.

"All papers in the postoffice at Pitsewo were removed and the Russian inhabitants abandoned the town.

"According to Chinese reports by evening of May 5 about 10,000 of the enemy's troops had landed and taken up quarters in the Chinese villages near the points of debarkation.

"The ... about one regiment each, one in a westerly direction and the other to the southward.

"On May 6 a passenger train from Port Arthur was fired on a mile and a quarter outside of Polandien (about 40 miles north of Port Arthur) by a hundred Japanese infantrymen occupying the heights east of the railway. The train carried many passengers, two wounded sick occupying an ambulance carriage flying the Red Cross flag. Two of the sick were wounded. The train succeeded in reaching Polandien.

"Disquieting rumors prevail in the maritime province and in Yin-kow."

The Present Situation.

Japanese troops are moving across the narrow neck of the Liao-tung peninsula so the railroad and telegraph communications cut and Port Arthur isolated and left to its own resources are conditions which the Russians seem to accept with great stoicism.

The events have been anticipated since the outbreak of the war and the authorities in a short space of time have come now that the Mikado has taken every step that the fortress is impregnable and ample provision to stand a siege for a year, and that it can hold out until the time comes to relieve it. According to official information the landing of troops from 60 transports began simultaneously at Pitsewo and Cape Terminal on the morning of May 5. It is also reported that troops are landing at Yinchow, but the latter is not credited as the Russians are known to have fortifications there, and it is not believed that the Japanese had the darning to land immediately under the entrenched position from which the Russians could inflict severe injury on them.

No Resistance Offered.

Complete details of the landing are lacking, owing to the interruption of communication. No resistance was made, the few Cossacks who observed the movement retired when the warships shelled the shore preparatory to debarkation.

Naval Demonstration.

While the landing was proceeding on Thursday the Japanese battleships Mikasa, Hatsuse, Shikishima, Yashima and Fuji, and the cruisers Iwate, Idzumo, Asama and Azuma, made a demonstration off Port Arthur to prevent the possible egress of Russian torpedo boats. A number of Japanese torpedo boats were also observed off Pigeon bay.

It was because he was convinced that Port Arthur was about to be cut off that Viceroy Alexieff, accompanied by his staff and Grand Duke Boris, left hastily. On Thursday several train loads of sick and wounded and other ineffectives were dispatched northward. It is reported that the Japanese ships bombarded Port Arthur early on the morning of May 6 and succeeded at last in closing the entrance but no official confirmation of the blocking can be obtained.

The exact hour at which communication with the Russian stronghold ceased has not been established.

Strength of the Garrison.

The strength of the garrison at Port Arthur is not revealed by the authorities, who will only say that it is adequate for defensive purposes. It is not believed that the force there exceeds 10,000 soldiers.

A large force is not regarded as necessary, as was shown from the recent withdrawal of some of the troops who were simply a drain on the resources of the garrison. The fleet will now take a secondary position and the sailors will be used to man the shore guns if necessary.

Vice Admiral Skrydloff and Vice Admiral Heubrassoff cannot now reach Port Arthur, and will probably go to Vladivostok to join the cruiser squadron there. Rear Admiral Withoft, who was left in charge of the fleet by Viceroy Alexieff, will direct operations at Port Arthur. Withoft is a good officer and it is believed he will render excellent service. Despite the greater number of Japanese the general staff believes that their formidable fortifications still leave the defensive capabilities with the Russians, whose staying qualities, it is confident, will insure their holding it as long as necessary.

While the outer line of fortifications extends to Kin-chow, unquestionably no determined effort will be made to hold them for is it expected that a desperate attempt to retain Dalny will be made. The main defense will be on Port Arthur, where, since the harbor has been occupied by the Russians, steady work has progressed to complete the system of defense, which is now effective on the land side.

Viceroy Still Clever.

Lieut. General Stoessel will have supreme command of the land forces, while Viceroy Alexieff will direct the operations of the fleet. Stoessel is described as a high class commander. His recent proclamations show that he is imbued with a determination to hold Port Arthur until the last man is killed.

Officers of the general staff say that the landing of the Japanese army on the peninsula and the investment of Port Arthur signify the military situation and the problem which General Kuropatkin must solve.

Had Kuropatkin had his way in the war, it is said, he would have abandoned Port Arthur, withdrawn further to the north and waited until his army had become overwhelming in its strength, when he would have moved forward, but this was made impossible in consequence of the injuries sustained by the Port Arthur fleet and the impossibility of the departure of the fleet from Vladivostok with a superior Japanese force outside that port. Therefore, the commander-in-chief is waiting at Liao-yang until the enemy's plan shall have developed sufficiently to show just what line it is purposed to follow.

Kuropatkin Free to Act.

Caution forbade an attempt in force to prevent General Kuroki's passage of the Yalu, as the troops landed at Pitsewo might have been diverted to take the Russians on the flank or in the rear. Now that the uncertainty is partly dispelled General Kuropatkin, from the interior lines, is free to act. That he purposes to move energetically is shown by the fact that he has sent reinforcements to Feng-wang-cheng. The indications are that he intends immediately to assume the aggressive and to strike General Kuroki's army before the latter can be reinforced through Korea.

Another Battle Imminent.

Enough Russian troops are in the vicinity of New Chwang to hold the Japanese in check until reinforcements have been tried with Kuroki. It is not anticipated, however, that the Japanese will march northward, but it is believed they will devote their energies to effect the fall of Port Arthur. The receipt of news at any time of a decisive battle near Feng-wang-cheng will not cause surprise here, and already rumors are circulating in the city which bodeth such ... and are believed to be untrue, that a battle has been fought, that the Japanese have been defeated with heavy loss and General Kuropatkin was wounded. Another rumor is in circulation that Port Arthur has been captured, but this is also scouted in responsible quarters.

RUSSIANS PASS THE JAPANESE

London Papers Express the Opinion That Japanese Will Endeavor to Capture Fleet at Port Arthur.

London, May 7.—The British press is long in its expression of admiration for the brilliant Japanese strategy in dealing in rapid succession three great blows, the battle of the Yalu, the sealing of Perth Arthur and the landing at Pitsewo, and the development of these opening moves is awaited with the greatest interest.

It is believed to be not unlikely that the primary object will be an assault on Port Arthur and an endeavor to capture the Russian fleet there. This idea is favored by Henry Spencer Wilkinson in the Post, a journal generally well informed on Japanese affairs. Other journals believe that the Japanese have been contented to place a small force as a mask at Port Arthur and will send their main forces from Pitsewo to cooperate with General Kuroki's army, in which case, if the Russian assertion that large reinforcements have been sent to Feng-wang-cheng is true, a great land battle is imminent there or at Liao-yang. It is believed that it is Japan's second army that landed at Pitsewo and the destination of the third army is still to be revealed.

No further news has reached London beyond belated dispatches from correspondents with the Japanese army on the Yalu, detailing events preceding the recent battle.

The Chronicle's Tokio correspondent asserts that simultaneously with the attack on Port Arthur the Japanese laid cables between one of the islands and the main land as a protection to their landing place. The Telegraph's correspondent at Tokio says the nine sunken fireships at Port Arthur were laden with a mass of stone and cement.

The correspondent of the Standard at Fen-tsia cables that Viceroy Alexieff has called on the Tartar general and all the officials at Fen-tien to quit that place immediately.

Mr. Jones was cleaning his revolver when in some way the gun was discharged, the ball passing through the calf of the leg. He was taken to the hospital where, after an examination, it was found no bones had been broken, and nothing more than a painful flesh wound occurred. However, the wound will necessitate his confinement to his bed for a few days.

REPUBLICANS SELECT NATIONAL DELEGATES

Convention Practically Harmonious While Speech of Senator Wolcott Is Frequently Applauded.

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, May 6.—The state convention of the Republican party held in this city today was one of the most enthusiastic gath...ings ever held in the state.

There were complete delegations from every county in Colorado, every district, and everywhere a spirit of harmony and of success prevailed.

The decorations of the theater were more elaborate than ... displayed at any convention ... years. The walls and balconies were handsomely trimmed with ... festoons and bunting, flags while many flags upon poles were attached to the balcony fronts. A very pretty effect was ... by suspending ... upon ... lower boxes with Japanese peach ... sours.

The chief feature of the morning was a splendid address by Senator Wolcott in which he discussed state and national affairs and also alluded to the situation in Denver. He declared that the outlook for success was never so auspicious as now and urged every Republican to acquiesce in the will of the majority.

In discussing the conditions in Denver the senator was strong and earnest in his counsel to the voters to wipe out the infamous election frauds. He said ... which caused John Shafroth to resign his seat were the votes which elected the Democratic delegation of 35 in Arapahoe county to the last legislature and that they should not have been permitted to retain their seats.

Short addresses were also made by Governor Peabody, by Col. John Springer, candidate for mayor of Denver, and by Congressman Hogg.

Convention Opens.

The theater was crowded to the doors when the convention was called to order by Chairman N. E. Browne. The call was read by Secretary Cochran and then upon motion of A. M. Stevenson Senator Wolcott was unanimously elected temporary chairman of the convention.

Chairman Hurley named A. M. Stevenson and W. S. Boynton as a committee to escort the senator to the platform.

After a few moments he arrived and was escorted to the stage amid great cheering which was continued for several minutes. The senator walked with a cane and appeared to be not in the best of health.

... Mr. Wolcott got into his speech he delivered it with his old-time vigor, and eloquence and was frequently interrupted by applause. He said:

Senator Wolcott's Speech.

"You know I speak from the heart when I thank you for this honor. We see many queens of victory about us. That ... Glenwood day before yesterday, when you nominated the Hon. Herschel M. Hogg to succeed himself in congress. It was an action which is sure to mean success to the party and honor to our state, for there is no more highly respected or able member in the floor of congress, nor one whose heart is more wholly in the efforts in behalf of his constituents.

"It is also fitting that we congratulate ourselves that that sturdy Republican Robert W. Bonynge has come to his own. While it is not entirely satisfactory to some of us that a committee in our own legislature did not view the case as did the Republicans and Democrats at Washington, who declared that Mr. Bonynge had been elected, we have a solace in the indisputable fact that ... which ... Democratic ... clearer view.

"Once more we can ... knowing that we are not to stop with sending our delegation to the national convention, but we know that our work will go on and bring a victory at the polls. We remember when Colorado was the banner Republican state, and then came the unfortunate days of Weaver and Bryanism, and four years ago we unfortunately cast our votes for our beloved William McKinley, notwithstanding which we were classed with the hopeless states of the South, but it is hoped that Massachusetts is no more certain to return a Republican majority next fall than is the state of Colorado for Roosevelt, and I would that I could say with equal certainty for Roosevelt and Springer. I must confess that I am not quite as serious as I was about Mr. Spencer, because we need him in Denver.

Victory Coming.

"Victory is coming to us because harmony reigns. I know that I am treading on sacred ground. Standing on the ground where Denver here ... my ... was a hard road to travel, but no ... back of passage in Colorado has ... and other ... conditions ... all be laid at the door of fusion. Our first duty is to our country, and there is no such fair test of good citizenship in the world as an unselfish and discriminating interest in public affairs. ... should ally themselves with one or the other of the great political parties, and when they do so they ... themselves to support that party. I do not know of a single nominee of any Republican convention to whom I would not cheerfully give my hearty and unqualified support.

"That rule should govern all honest Republicans. If we would gratify our personal spite or allow any personalities to interfere, we do so to the detriment of the party in the valley, as well as in the city and state.

"The Republican party deserves the support of every good citizen. Under its policy with respect to Porto Rico the island has prospered and our own industries are reaping vast benefits. The Republican party's benevolent rule in the Philippines has helped our home industries and restored the islands to peace and prosperity. We do not hear any more of rebellion over there. The protective tariff has been so well guarded and preserved that the country for years to come will feel the good effects if Democratic ... into power that policy will be destroyed or imperiled.

"The people of Colorado know what it would mean should that happen. We are far from the ocean, but our industries flourish because of that tariff. This question, I know, would become old and dry if it did not come home to the happiness of everybody, and it will live with the Republican party.

"But we have state issues of greater importance that must not be forgotten. The governor of Colorado, upon taking office nearly two years ago, found himself face to face with a critical situation which involved the future of the state. He has dealt with these conditions with great courage and has brought about the security of life and property and the maintenance of order and obedience to law. For the policy and the carrying out of it he deserves the hearty commendation of every good citizen. It is not a question of party at all. But I trust this commendation will approve and bear testimony of its adherence to the policy of law and order in Colorado.

Conditions in Leyden.

"I have said we are facing victory, but there is an unfortunate condition ... in Denver. There is not a city in the whole world existing under a pretense at free institutions that is so burdened with lawlessness as Denver. There are precincts and wards in Denver where no vote is cast ... there are precincts where fraudulent ballots are written and cast and counted and the honest reputable voters are given no recognition or ob-

REMARKABLE RECORD MADE BY IOWA'S GUNS

Washington, May 6.—Remarkable records were made by the Iowa's guns in the annual record target practice just completed at Pensacola. The Iowa's 12-inch guns made 42 shots and 34 hits. The best 12-inch gun made 11 shots and 11 hits. The hits per gun per minute for the 12-inch guns were 4.14. This equals the record made by the British ship Ocean in 1902, when she broke the world's record and in the case of the Iowa the record is all the more creditable because her guns are of an old type.

The Iowa's 8-inch guns made 1.3 hits per gun each minute, the best gun making eight hits out of nine ...

BISHOP MERRILL RESIGNS

Senior Member of the Methodist Board Asks to Be Retired After 59 Years of Active Service in the Church.

Los Angeles, California, May 6.—Very little progress was made by the Methodist general conference today but the business is being so shaped and systemized that with a few more sessions to clear away the vast quantity of preliminary matters, the work will proceed smoothly and rapidly. The various important committees held their first meetings this afternoon at half a dozen different churches and made a fair start in the business before them. The resignation of Senior Bishop Stephen M Merrill of Chicago, was presented to the conference and referred to the committee on episcopacy with instructions to report to the general conference with appropriate resolutions commendatory of the great service Bishop Merrill has rendered to the church in his 59 years as minister and bishop.

The only other important subject considered by the general conference today was the resolution offered yesterday by Rev. J. F. Goucher as follows:

"Resolved, That a committee of 15 be appointed to consist of one minister and one layman from each general conference district, and of at large, whose duties shall be to report back to this general conference not later than May 15, a re-grouping of the annual conferences in the general conference districts, so as to secure equal representation, having due regard, however, to proximity of territory and similarity of interest.

After debate as to what should be done with this resolution had dragged along for more than an hour, some ... suddenly discovered that there was a specific rule of the general conference which provided for its reference to the committee on boundaries, and it was so ordered.

Pentecostal meetings are being held daily at the Temple Baptist church. These meetings are of the revival kind, addressed by well known revivalists, including several bishops and attended by great crowds of church people. Bishop McCabe is one of the leaders.

A series of lectures by visiting church dignitaries is a feature of the evening entertainments at the pavilion and at Simpson auditorium.

The committee on episcopacy will meet Monday afternoon, when it is expected the question of new and additional ... will be taken up.

PROTEST AGAINST FRAUDULENT TICKET.

Denver, May 6.—The local political contest reached the courts at midnight when a petition was filed with the clerk of the county court by Chairman Hodges of the Republican city central committee, asking that the court review the action of the election commission in retaining upon the ballot the "fifty Republican" ticket. The claim is made that the objectionable ticket is made up wholly of persons antagonistic to the Republican party in Denver and is intended to deceive the voters.

Patiently to rule. The strong arm of the law is lifted, not to protect the honest voter who seeks an honest election, but to strike him down and support the thieves and cheats who realize the importance of the situation is critical. It seems very sad indeed. There are thousands of people in this city who have been in the habit of voting at the primaries and never missed a year, who will be disfranchised and subjected to all the indignities a gang of thieves can confer upon the men of the community who should enjoy the privileges of citizenship.

The police superintendent of Denver, has installed such people from crimes and thieves' hocking confidence are behind the gang of police, ostensibly to serve the interests of the ruling party. Under such circumstances it is not to be wondered at that every man who has the interests of the city at heart is alarmed. The police force should be composed of men who are above reproach, men who will not be afraid to perform their duty without fear or favor, men who will not be afraid to protect life and property regardless of the color of the place and the character of the people that place may harbor. Men who will not permit themselves to be used as tools by the lowest element of society. Men who will not be afraid to arrest the keeper of a gambling house or a disorderly house, regardless of the fact that he may be a prominent politician or a leader of a political party. Men who will not be afraid to arrest a thief, regardless of the fact that he may be a prominent politician or a leader of a political party. Mrs. Warford Would End Suffering, if She Could.

SMALL CHANCE OF LIVING

[illegible] WHO HAS BEEN ILL FOR [illegible] CHRISTMAS COMBINES H, AND [illegible] DAILY DOZ.

Although her death is daily expected, Mrs. J. A. Warford still walks around on the first floor of a flat in the Garden of the Gods, directly overlooking Bear's Head [illegible] every morning. It is a little bit the strangest sight you ever saw to see Dr. Frank last night. "But I am afraid she will die," Dr. Frank said he expected that death would be only a matter of a few days, or at most at the [illegible] away the lingering pain.

It was found by Dr. Frank that Mrs. Warford had swallowed 22½ grains of corrosive sublimate. The substance is a deadly poison and when taken in such a very small quantity proves instantly. It usually results death in from three to twelve days. The quantity taken by Mrs. Warford, according to Dr. Frank, was enough to kill a hundred men.

Mrs. Warford was still in much pain last night, and kept repeating the request to those attending her to get her a [illegible] that she might discontinue suffering. She declares that if she recovers she will make another attempt to end herself.

Mrs. F. Mantz, who was mentioned in the note written by Mrs. Warford to Dr. Frank asserts that the statement made by Mrs. Warford that she was to be the cause of Mrs. Warford's [illegible] grave is very unfair and places her in the wrong light. Mrs. Mantz says she has allowed Mrs. Warford to remain in her home for three months without rent and has paid a grocery bill amounting to [illegible] Mrs. Warford is not a poor [illegible].

Cripple Creek, May 6.—Several days ago Chief Detective Harford received a telegram from the sheriff of El Paso county, Wyoming, the sheriff of that county to arrest a certain J. A. Harford, this morning, when reading the account in the Gazette of the suicide of wife of J. A. Warfield, at once decided that a mistake of identity had been made and that Warford was the man wanted.

Another wire to the man was immediately sent and Mr. J. A. Warfield was located working on the Vindicator mine, and [illegible] the news and his intention of the sheriff's office. He agreed to go to Colorado Springs and see that his wife was taken care of, and left for that [illegible] on the 4 o'clock Short Line train.

SATURDAY, MAY 7, 1904.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

The work of the state convention in Denver yesterday should be a source of gratification to every Republican in the state. It was in every sense a Republican convention.

The Regular Republican organization was in complete control, and this is as it should be, but in its conduct of the affairs of the party the leaders knew neither faction nor factionist. Gentlemen conspicuous in the councils of both wings of the party were selected to represent the Republicans of this commonwealth in Chicago.

The selection of Senator Wolcott and the naming of Governor J. H. Peabody were in accordance with the best interests of the party.

The result is a consummation which the Gazette has urged in season and out of season during the past nine months, and it will be well if this condition of harmony shall continue in the councils of the party for the future.

No individual with the interest of the organization at heart can urge [illegible] obedience to healthy, clean-cut, manly contests within the ranks. It is not these contests which injure the party, but rather the persistent refusal to recognize and abide by the results, the disposition to keep alive the fires of [illegible] and discontent under every and all conditions.

Every one of the [illegible] selected as national delegates at Denver is a [illegible] of the best manhood of Colorado. It is a delegation which in all its parts will be [illegible] at the [illegible] quality and the unswerving fidelity of the Republicans of this state.

HON. W. S. BOYNTON FOR CHAIRMAN.

The action of the Republican State convention yesterday in indorsing Mr. W. S. Boynton for the next state chairman is a deserved tribute to the faithfulness, loyalty and energy of a devoted and life-long Republican.

In season and out of season Mr. Boynton has labored for party success. He has never faltered in the face of the enemy; has always stood by manfashion and fought the party's battles when others were disposed to weaken.

Added to this he has shown a singular modesty and a lack of self-seeking. When he could have had almost any office he might have asked for he has made no request for himself but has labored zealously for the party and its every success, no matter whether that success was personally approved by Mr. Boynton or not.

It was difficult to say whether the individual was the most valuable Republican worker and he found no opportunity to exhibit such wise [illegible] Mr. Boynton.

His modesty and unselfishness was demonstrated anew at the state convention in Denver, when [illegible] to all [illegible] should not be placed upon the delegation to the Chicago convention. They insisted upon it and he was invited for the place. It was an honor to which [illegible] which all of us were anxious to pay to Mr. Boynton, [illegible] that another be sent in his stead. [illegible] of his party [illegible].

The [illegible] was [illegible] by paying that [illegible] of the Republicans of this [illegible] and [illegible] Mr. Boynton [illegible] in November and that his [illegible] will be [illegible] in a [illegible] and [illegible] way.

RACE MURDER—NOT SUICIDE.

[illegible] a great [illegible] about race suicide. [illegible] to do. [illegible] the same time. The [illegible] all [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] of the [illegible] of
